Vaccine Passport on the cards

As South Africa's vaccine rollout now past its nascent stage and the country administering a million doses every four to five days, business leaders are suggesting in order to restore the economy, introduce world travel and further investments, beyond the adjusting COVID-19 level restrictions, government should consider the introduction of vaccine passports.

Vaccination/ COVID-19

As people get vaccinated, it is still possible to contract COVID-19 and often people don't know if their symptoms are as a result of the vaccine or COVID-19
